

Narrativity 2019:

Storming the Barricades of Story

Join us the weekend of Bastille Day, July 12-14, at the Crowne Plaza Minneapolis West for three days of spirited conversation, laughter, deep thoughts, and fun.

Narrativity is a gathering of writers, readers, and other interested parties who want to get together and talk about storytelling, and how to do it better. Our primary focus is on fantasy fiction, but we love a good story regardless of genre or format. We want to talk with smart people about how to write good things well, people who are passionate about building their worlds and passionate about sharing them.

Our single track of programming, small size, and in-depth approach allows for an intense exploration of all things writing, reading, and the interaction between the two. Narrativity is an interactive experience; our members are part of the program, not just part of the audience. And while we're serious about good writing, we're not above a little silliness in the cause; if we're not having fun doing it, then we're doing it wrong!

Narrativity believes that the free exchange of ideas is vital to making good art, and to humanity in general. Courteous discussion will not be censored.

Sound like your idea of a good time? Then come and join us!
